University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign

Annie Abbott is Director of Undergraduate Studies in the Department of Spanish and Portuguese at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign. She has taught Spanish community service learning (CSL) since 2004 and has authored articles, chapters and a textbook—Comunidades: Más allá del aula (Pearson)—about CSL. She coordinates a program of three CSL courses with about 60 students per semester working with a dozen community partners. Her work in languages for specific purposes has covered business Spanish, social entrepreneurship, ethics, and bilingual social media marketing. Annie has received several campus awards for her teaching, service and public engagement. She is also author of two textbooks, Comunidades: Más allá del aula and Día a día: de lo personal a lo profesional, both with Pearson. Finally, Annie also writes a weekly newspaper column called “Letters Home” which explores the connections between small-town culture and politics.
